Community of Practice

- is a community for all workshop facilitators within DEED and all partners across the State.
- The goal is to increase communication, share ideas and learn from one another. This group will meet quarterly.
- In between meetings communication will be done via a newsletter, sharing various topics based on need and interest.

Community of Practice Newsletter

November 9, 2020 Vol. 1

Purpose

Purpose of this newsletter is continuing education and sharing of ideas and best practices, ideas for new standardized classes, and other topics the facilitator community of practice members have requested information on. All members are encouraged to contribute to the newsletter. Please share your ideas with the co-chairs.

Schedule

The Community of Practice will meet quarterly and there will be monthly newsletters on the months when the group does not meet. Mark your calendars for our next quarterly virtual meeting which will take place on January 13, 2021 from 10:00am to 11:00am. A meeting invite will be sent. Please share with the Co-chairs training topics you are interested in learning more about.

Leadership

Diane Daleiden and Cindy Larson are the current Co-chairs of the community of practice and will lead the meetings at this time. As we move forward, there will be rotating leadership each year, with an overlap of one meeting to ensure continuity and a seamless transfer of leadership. Oversight for the community of practice is provided by the Jobseeker Services Committee, which is a committee of the Minnesota Association of Workforce Boards.

General Tips for Hosting a Virtual Training

1. Prior to the training, send out any handouts that will be used for the training to the attendees so they can reference them during the training.
2. Encourage attendees to join 10 minutes ahead of time so they can check their audio and video.
3. Acknowledge people as they join the call.
4. Do not assume they are experts in using the platform
 - a. Point out the chat and how to use it
 - b. Advise them to be in a quiet space without noise
 - c. Advise them to make sure their video background is appropriate.
 - d. Let them know it is up to them as far as sharing their video.
5. Inform the group that lines are muted and if they need to speak, they will need to unmute, make their comments and then mute their equipment again.

6. Create a slide that highlights any expectations and instructions.
7. Do a quick "icebreaker" such as having each person type in the chat in 3 words what they hope to learn, or even how their day is going, or what comes to mind right away when you think of job interviews?
8. Use "pass the microphone" to get input from all the attendees. After each person gives their input to the question you are asking, have them select someone else on the meeting and say, "I am passing the microphone to XXX now," etc.
9. Stop periodically and ask for questions and comments
10. Conserve Bandwidth: If your audio/video performance is choppy, be aware of what else might be going on in your home. Is someone streaming a movie, downloading files, using FaceTime, etc.? If your audio/video performance remains choppy, stop broadcasting your video feed. That will cut down on your bandwidth requirements.

Art Larsen and Luis Brown-Pena

We have two very talented people who are joining this pilot project, Art Larsen and Luis Brown-Pena. Art Larsen is the new Job Service Program Coordinator. In his role Art will be the statewide lead for Job Service staff delivering workshop services. Art will be working closely with the co-chairs and the community of practice as we move forward with the Standardized Workshop Curriculum pilot. Luis Brown-Pena will be joining the pilot to assist with Facilitator Training, which will take place in March 2021. Luis is a widely recognized trainer of facilitators and facilitation skills. He has trained on these topics nationwide, including some credentialed training opportunities like Offender Workforce Development Specialist (OWDS) training.

Registration and Attendance within minnesotaworks.net

Reminder to have your workshops scheduled and activated within Minnesotaworks.net as online workshops using the specific workshops titles sent out that start with CareerForce. When leading the workshop, it is suggested that you ask the attendees to put their name in the chat box in order to register their attendance in minnesotaworks.net. It is recommended that you have someone assist you with moderating the chat as you lead the workshop. After the workshop, send out the PowerPoint along with the survey monkey to the workshop attendees.

Advisory Team

- Will review pilot feedback and ensure any necessary changes are made.
- Will provide a continual review of standardized curriculum for consistency across the State in terms of workshop content and delivery.
- Will meet quarterly its first year and as needed in the future.
